LO: To plan my idea for a new character in the book The Enormous Crocodile.

Your Task

Today we will be developing our ideas for a new character in the story, The Enormous Crocodile, by Roald Dahl.

Before half term you were asked to watch a reading of the story, but you may wish to watch it again to refresh your memory. Here is the link:

Next, please watch Mrs Sycamore's lesson using the link on Class Dojo.

We will then plan our own character to add to the story!

We will each develop an idea for a new character through play with our toys or drawing. Don't worry about writing your ideas down today (but try to remember them for tomorrow!).

Through play or drawing, I would like you to:

1. Create your character - think about what type of animal they will be. Will they be big or small? What colour will they be? Will they be found in the trees, in the water, or somewhere else?
2. What will the crocodile's next sneaky trick be? Remember, our Croc wants to eat up a yummy child and he has lots of clever tricks!
3. How will your new animal save the children? Perhaps they will charge like Humpy-Rumpy, or maybe they can fly like the Roly-Poly Bird. Please use your time to build your ideas and let your imagination soar!
4. Please share some photos of how you approached this task on Class Dojo.

Happy playing!
